

Model Text – Life in Urban Kenya Recount

I am going to tell you a little bit about my life growing up in Nairobi, Kenya.

First, I get up, I get washed and then I get changed into my school clothes. I always feel refreshed!

Next, I sit down together and have breakfast with my family. Usually, we have fruit, juice, tea, and coffee, but if it is cold outside then we have porridge, which I do not like!

Then, we go to school by car because it is quite far away. We pass through an awesome forest! Sometimes, when we get to school, we line up for an assembly and we sing the national anthem. It makes me feel excited for the day!

After that, we go into the dining room to have lunch. Often, we pray to God before we eat because we thank him for our delicious food. It is incredibly noisy! We have about 4 lessons before the school day finishes.

Finally, at 4 o'clock we go on the school bus to go home. Normally, I have a lot of homework, but it can be boring.
